Nature of alert: On 17 April 2015, a 16 year old girl took her own life at the Drummond Road Level Crossing in Hoylake Her mother had been found murdered two months previously and there was widespread national media coverage of these two connected incidents. This type of tragic event - involving such a young person and being so prevalent in the news at the time - has led to the decision to keep this as an alert beyond the usual two year time frame. There is a concern that the anniversary date: <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• could attract vulnerable people to the same location to take their own lives</li><li>• may encourage mourners to the site to attend vigils which may impact upon the safety and operation of the railway</li><li>• could trigger memories for rail staff involved in the incident</li></ul>	Recommended action: Consideration should be given to Network Rail, staff of operators or BTP officers visiting the location of the incident around the time it took place to be on the look-out for: <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• persons showing signs of distress or upset who may be at risk of suicide, or mourners gathering in an acts of remembrance</li><li>• any tokens of remembrance, which in line with industry guidance should be removed</li></ul> It might also be appropriate to promote the industry's Small Talk Saves Lives campaign locally around this time to heighten community awareness of suicide prevention. Managers of staff who may have been involved in the incident or could be affected by its anniversary should look for signs of trauma amongst them and offer support as per their organisation's welfare arrangements.
